FIRES ON THE WATER

Gary Waid & Lawrence Jackson
of Naa Kahidi Theater

"It held so much meaning it left me in tears," said Philadelphia theater critic Derek Davis. "World-class storytelling, magnificent costumes, beautiful people, a perfect sense of place." Through comedy, drama, and especially ribald raven stories, Naa Kahidi Theater presents dramatizations of the mythology of Alaska's native people.

The stories are told with beauty, power, wisdom and dignity. Naa Kahidi, a Tlingit Indian troupe, works closely with the clans to develop authentic presentations of Native Alaskan oral literature.

These performances use traditional dramatic elements, including music, dance, and replicas of authentic masks and regalia. The style of storytelling varies with each piece, with the modes adding to the drama of the story content. The spare set, consisting primarily of hanging masks, is visually beautiful as well as practical for transitions between pieces.

"Fires on the Water" is a framing story, within which Naa Kahidi presents plays from its current repertory.

"The Box of Daylight" is one of the most widely-told and best-loved raven stories, about how light came into the world. This version portrays the influence of many Tlingit storytellers.

"White Raven and Water," in a version by poet and author Nora Marks Dauenhauer, is based on the one told by her father, Willie Marks. Deadpan humor marks the tale's delivery, as the once-white raven depicts how he acquired his familiar black feathers (and designed the hydrogen cycle while he was at it!).

"How the Crane Got Blue Eyes" is a Yup'ik story learned from Valerie Davidson's grandmother Annie David. It is not only a "how it came to be" story, but a cautionary tale in the manner of the European "Boy Who Cried 'Wolf.'"

The company, founded in 1986 as a program of the Sealaska Heritage Foundation, has toured extensively throughout the United States, Canada and Europe. Touring highlights include performances at The Kennedy Center in Washington, DC; two European tours; participation in "Pathways of Tradition" at the National Museum of the American Indian in New York City; and performances at international children's festivals in Vancouver, Philadelphia, Seattle and Scotland.

Naa Kahidi Theater, in its first Bay Area appearance, is presented in the Cowell Theater by City Celebration, Inc. Perfomances are October 14 through 16. For details, see October 14 listing. For more information, call City Celebration, 474-3914.

REGGAE BY THE BAY

"It's culture! It's hot! It's Reggae By the Bay—the biggest reggae extravaganza around." It's two days of international and Bay Area reggae bands, a DJ tent party, a fashion show, African dancing, ethnic food, arts and crafts, and children's entertainment. The event benefits Jamaica's Health, Nutrition and Education Foundation, which researches and designs media and cultural programs for youth.

Heading the entertainment lineup are Sugar Minott, Born Jamerican, and the African Rhythm Messengers.

Sugar Minott is a Jamaican reggae pioneer, loved and respected for his positive lyrics and style. He is especially noted for his love songs, called "lover's rock." He is well-known in Jamaica as a tutor and coach to young men to keep them off the streets.

Born Jamerican are young first-generation Americans of Jamaican descent, who play the "hype sound of dancehall" with classic reggae bass lines. "Edley" (Horace Payne) and "Natch" (Norman Howell) both have deep roots in the Jamaican music scene—Edley's uncle owned a record shop and Natch's father was a reggae bass player. This background provided the mutual interest and "in-sync vibes" to form Born Jamerican.

African Rhythm Messengers is a Bay Area all-African band that features high-spirited dance music and harmonies from the west coast of Africa. They play the highlife and Afro-beat music that has rocked the African music scene since the 1950s.

Other performers are Calypso Rose, Donovan, Ragapumpum, Lyord Stiff, Blacka Ranks and local talents Sister I-Live, Pan Extasy, and Junglz Apart, as well as a host of DJs and special guests.

Reggae By The Bay takes place in the Herbst Pavilion, Saturday and Sunday, October 22 and 23, from noon to 10pm each day. Tickets are $10 per day in advance, $12 per day at the door. For information and tickets, call (510) 652-6768.

IN XANADU

The West Coast premiere of an original shadow theater work opens at the Cowell Theater. In Xanadu is an epic fantasy of Khublai Khan's 13th-century empire.

Shadowmaster/director Larry Reed has assembled an internationally acclaimed roster of actors, puppeteers, musicians and designers, with skills from Chinese and Tibetan Opera, performance art, storytelling, animation and traditional shadow puppetry.

In Xanadu tells the story of Khublai Khan and his wife Chabui through the medium of shadows cast on a giant screen. Combining techniques of film and traditional shadow theater, the performance is live animation created by a cast and crew of twenty, working behind the screen to create the spectacle.

"Shadows have a unique power to excite the imagination," said Reed. "...we have created a visually driven theater experience, a larger-than-life epic tale with the power and immediacy of dreams."

Theater artist and film director Reed spent two years studying in Bali. He is one of the few Americans to be trained in wayang kulit, Balinese shadow puppetry. His film, Shadow Master, has been shown on the Discovery Channel. He created the shadow settings and figures for the Mark Taper Forum/ITP production of Freedom Song, and for the Los Angeles and Santa Fe Opera productions of Orfeo with Marilyn Horne.

Composer Miguel Frasconi's original score features live performers on percussion and flute along with sampled sounds, including singing and eastern and western string instruments.

Principal collaborator Shi-Zheng Chen was one of China's preeminent traditional Chinese opera actors and singers, simultaneously cited as Most Outstanding Actor and Most Outstanding Folksinger by China's Ministry of Culture. Since moving to the United States in 1987, he has worked extensively in contemporary and experimental musical forms and theater.

In Xanadu opens October 19 and continues through October 30. For details, see October 19 listing. For tickets, call 392-4400.

MODERN IRISH DRAMA

Somewhere Over the Balcony is an "in-your-face" comedy set in the Divis Flats Project in Belfast, the poorest housing project in Western Europe.

Divis Flats has a lot more in common with South Central than the rolling hills of County Kerry: helicopters loom overhead; soldiers spy through high-powered scopes at the comings and goings of residents. Here, the war on poverty is measured in daily skirmishes with failed plumbing, collapsing apartment walls, and marauding rodents.

Three ordinary housewives take center stage on their highrise balcony perch. They peer up towards the ever-present cameras and downward onto a cast of thousands—including an entire British regiment, a stalled wedding party, and a ragtag assemblage of their pets and "dirty wee ghetts."

The play conveys the injustice of it all, but also a delicious sense of humor and political irony that is "more indigenous to the Emerald Isle than all the leprechauns you can fit on the head of a pin."

This new production of Marie Jones' black comedy, directed by Sean Evers, is presented at the Bayfront Theater by Brava! For Women In The Arts and The Fifth Province Theatre Company.

The Fifth Province is devoted to bringing the best of modern Irish drama to the Bay Area. The company was founded, in association with the Irish Arts Foundation, by Peter O'Neill and Eddie Stack, co-producers of the annual Celtic Music & Arts Festival; Irish-born actresses and now Bay Area residents Kate Perry and Deirdre Herbert; and Conor Howard, producer of the annual San Francisco Bloomsday Celebration.

By promoting the work of new Irish writers and dramatists, the company participates in that vital quest identified by Seamus Heaney as "the search for images and symbols adequate to our predicament."

Perry and Herbert, joined by Delia MacDougall, are featured in Somewhere Over The Balcony.

Since 1986, San Francisco's award-winning Brava! For Women In The Arts has earned a solid reputation as a cutting-edge producer and presenter of new theater works by women. Brava's world premieres include Cherrie Moraga's Heroes and Saints and Shadow of a Man, Anne Galjour's Alligator Tales, and Ellen Gavin's The Roof's On Fire.

Somewhere Over the Balcony opens Saturday, October 15, and continues through November 6. For details, see October 15 listing. For information and tickets, call Brava, 641-7657.

FROM POST TO PARK

On October 1, the Presidio of San Francisco becomes a National Park. To mark this historic occasion, the National Park Service presents "The Presidio: From Post to Park," a free, all-day public celebration.

Recognizing the importance of the Presidio's transition to this new role, the Park Service and other organizations have planned a series of events culminating with the October 1 celebration. "Post to Park Week" honors the Presidio's past and highlights its promising future as an environmental and cultural center.

The Saturday celebration, from 10am to 6pm on the Presidio grounds, includes entertainment on a Main Stage, a film program, ranger and docent-led walks, food vendors, a children's tent with stage performances, hands-on activities and exhibits, and an outdoor stage and tent on the Post's historic parade ground.

Films, oral history panel discussions, and additional interpretive programs will be presented in the Visitor Information Center and in the Presidio Museum.

Interpretive programs include "Park Patrol: 1895," a living history program about the soldiers who patrolled the parks before the National Park Service was established; "A Classroom in 1878," where families can participate in classroom activities such as spelling, arithmetic, and reading aloud; an exhibit by the Japanese-American Historical Society in the Presidio Museum, with Society members available to discuss the exhibit; and an encampment near the old stables with members of the 10th Cavalry reenactors spending their day like an 1890s cavalry unit, with drills, guard duty and patrols.

For information about the many other programs, tours, and special events offered to the public as part of this celebration, call the National Park Service, 556-3111.

SABOR LATINO

"Sabor Latino—A Culinary Overture" is a celebration of the diversity, popularity and influence of Latino cuisine, wines, music and culture. The event features the best in Latino, Mediterranean and African/Caribbean cuisine from a dozen countries provided by more than 30 top Bay Area chefs, restaurants and caterers.

"Sabor Latino" benefits Centro Latino de San Francisco, a nonprofit organization providing literacy programs, citizenship counseling, and high-quality meals for low-income elderly and families in the city's Mission District .

This event is also part of festivities honoring the transition of the Presidio of San Francisco from a military installation to a National Park. It celebrates Latino leadership in the establishment of the Presidio and expresses the commitment of the Latino community to help shape its future.

In addition to a dazzling array of foods from tapas to desserts, there is an impressive selection of premier wines and beers from Latin America, celebrity cooking demonstrations, multicultural art and product exhibits, and historical discussions—all set against the background of continuous cultural pageantry and live entertainment.

Featured performers include The Ballet Folklorico Mexicana de Carlos Morena, Rosa Montoya and Grupo Flamenco, Mariachi El Jalisciense, and the Tlactanchis of Peru. A special dance party with the Brazilian band Chalo Eduardo closes the evening.

Sabor Latino takes place in the Festival Pavilion on Saturday, October 1, from 2 to 8:30pm. The Chalo Eduardo dance party is from 6 to 8:30pm. Tickets are $20 in advance, $25 at the door, $15 for seniors and $10 for children under 12, which includes food, drinks, demonstrations and shows for the event. A no-host bar is open during the dance party.

For reservations and information, call 584-3907. For information in Spanish, call 647-7226.

BAY OF GREENS

Annie Somerville

"I love the Bay," said Annie Somerville. "I always go swimming in it and recently I've taken up rowing." Somerville is executive chef of Greens, the celebrated gourmet vegetarian restaurant at Fort Mason Center. She may get a chance to use her rowing experience when she hosts Bay of Greens, an overnight kayaking trip to Angel Island climaxed by a wonderful vegetarian dinner, prepared by Somerville herself.

Bay of Greens is a benefit for Environmental Traveling Companions, a nonprofit organization that provides access to wilderness and environmental activities for people with special needs. The event features round-trip kayaking from Sausalito to Angel Island, an overnight stay at Camp Reynolds, and the dinner.

Greens sits next to the water and boasts a panoramic view of San Francisco Bay and the Golden Gate Bridge. Run by the San Francisco Zen Center since 1978, the renowned restaurant features a light, lean, simple vegetarian cuisine. "For inspiration, I go to the farm and see what's in the ground," said Somerville, referring to the Zen Center's Green Gulch Farm, which produces most of the vegetables used at Greens. Somerville is the author of Fields of Greens and More Fields of Greens.

Somerville's Angel Island menu features Tassajara sourdough bread; filo turnovers filled with mushrooms, sun dried tomatoes, walnuts and thyme; grilled Green Gulch Farm potatoes, sweet peppers, red onions and Japanese eggplant with aioli; fusilli con buco with marinated vine-ripened tomatoes and cherry tomatoes, opal basil, olive oil, pine nuts, parmesan cheese and garlic bread crumbs; wilted bloomsdale spinach salad with feta cheese, kalamata olives, croutons, red onions, garlic, black mint, olive oil and sherry vinegar; and fruit crisp or cobbler with whipped cream.

Bay of Greens takes place Saturday and Sunday, October 1 and 2. Cost is $185. For information and reservations, call 474-7662. For restaurant information and reservations, call 771-6222.

WOMEN'S PERFORMANCE DAY

Athletic clubs and leagues, health and fitness organizations, nonprofit resource centers and sponsors from the private sector present NIKE Women's Performance Day, an interactive environment for women. Activities, keynote speakers, food and entertainment promote greater health, fitness and wellbeing.

All women, of every ability, background, shape and size, are invited to try different athletic activities, and to learn more about their health and community needs. Participants can try indoor rock-climbing walls, a cardio-boxing ring, an in-line skating roller-hockey rink and a basketball court.

Demonstrations include a tennis speed serve-off between Cal and Stanford women's varsity tennis players, a four-on-four roller hockey match, a giant participatory circuit training class, and a NIKE women's basketball exhibition with Stanford's National Championship Women's players.

The event benefits two nonprofit organizations: WISE, dedicated to enabling low-income women to build self-sufficiency through entrepreneurship; and Bay Area Women's Center, providing advocacy, policy work and planning for low-income women, children and families.

It also includes an area where information is available on volunteering options in the Bay Area.

The event takes place in the Festival Pavilion on Saturday, October 15 from 9am to 3pm. Admission is $10 in advance, $13 at the door. For tickets and information, call 433-9607.

BATS, CATS, & BOW WOWS

The Great San Francisco SPCA Cat and Dog Fair, presented by Critter Lovers at Work (CLAW), benefits the SPCA. Among the Fair's many exciting events are Jack Russell terrier races, demonstrations of unusual animal tricks, the performing arts group Bow Wow Productions, and a Newfoundland water rescue. Also featured are a colorful pet parade, contests, and animal experts. Booths include animal art galleries, photo studios, boutiques, an animal psychic, a portrait painter, Bird World, and house rabbit fanciers.

The Opening Night Preview Gala features a celebrity animal fashion show, the blessing of the animals, appearances by well-known animal actors, a silent auction, and the Wells Fargo Stagecoach Team, as well as cocktails and a buffet.

The event takes place in the Herbst Pavilion. The Opening Night Gala is Friday, October 14, from 6:30 to 10pm. Tickets are $100. The Fair is Saturday, October 15 from 10am to 5pm. Tickets are $6 for adults, $3 for seniors and children under 12. Toddlers are admitted free. For more information, call 554-3000.

Day of the Bat is an opportunity to learn about California's most misunderstood inhabitants. Bats are not disease-bearing monsters, but beneficial and integral members of ecosystems around the world.

This event features live appearances by Tad the pallid bat, Tiffany, a Myotis evotis, and other "Bat Ambassadors." There are activities for children, and an opportunity to meet the volunteers who raise and rehabilitate orphaned and injured bats in the Bay Area. Day of the Bat is sponsored by the California Bat Conservation Fund, which educates the public about the importance of bats in our rapidly-developing state.

The event is being held Saturday, October 22, from 10am to 3pm in Building C. Admission is $2 for adults, 50¢ for children, and free for children under 5 years. For information, call 661-1317.

Liz Winterhawk teaches people how to experience animal viewpoints and receive what they communicate through thoughts, images, impressions, feelings, and messages.

Animal consultant Winterhawk hosts a weekend workshop, "How To Communicate With Animals." This class teaches people exercises and meditations to "unblock communications with animals in order to get in touch with them telepathically."

The workshop takes place in Building C on Saturday and Sunday, October 22 and 23, from 11am to 3:30pm. Cost is $65. Pre-registration is required. For more information, call (510) 538-7763.

FALL ANTIQUES SHOW

The Thirteenth Annual San Francisco Fall Antiques Show includes more than sixty distinguished dealers from America and Europe. A broad range of antiques representing all styles and periods is on display. Included are American, English, Continental and Asian furniture, porcelain, silver, rugs, glass and fine art.

The show was established in 1982 as the major fundraising event for Enterprise for High School Students, a nonprofit job referral and career development agency for San Francisco high school students. It now serves more than 2,500 students annually.

"Hearst Castle: A California Legacy" is this year's loan exhibit. The pieces, on view in a custom-designed display, emphasize the amazing collecting habits of William Randolph Hearst, the remarkable architectural achievement of Hearst Castle itself, and the wonderful legacy given to the State of California by the Hearst Corporation. The exhibit also pays tribute to Julia Morgan, Hearst's architect, who was from the Bay Area.

The Lecture Series includes two presentations about Hearst Castle. Michael Conforti, Director of the Minneapolis Institute of Art and former Director of the de Young Museum, speaks on Hearst as a collector. Abigail Van Slyck, Assistant Professor, University of Arizona College of Architecture, discusses the Castle from the perspective of its architect, Julia Morgan.

The Fall Antiques Show takes place in the Festival Pavilion, October 26 through 30. The Preview Party is $125, general admission is $15, lectures are $10. Group rates are available. See October 26 listing for details. For information, call 921-1411.

¡MUERTOS DE GUSTO!

"¡Muertos de Gusto! Day of the Dead Ritual and Memory" deals with the concept of spirituality, from Mesoamerican cosmologies to contemporary practices.

Works by artists from Mexico and the United States demonstrate the rich and complex binational and bicultural artistic experience via painting, photography, sculpture, and installations at The Mexican Museum.

The exhibition was organized by the Mexican Fine Arts Center Museum of Chicago in honor of "El Día de los Muertos." It centers on the exploration of traditional and non-traditional manifestations of this celebration on both sides of the border.

All of the folk art objects and prints in the exhibition are from the Mexican Fine Arts Center Museum's permanent collection, as are the majority of the photographs. The remainder of the artwork comes from the participating artists, including Santa Barraza, Maris Bustamante, Enrique Chagoya, Luis Jimenez, Rodolfo Morales, Francisco Toledo, and Patssi Valdez.

The exhibit opens October 12 and continues through November 27.

From October 14 through 20 (except Monday, October 17) the Linares family is "in residence" at La Tienda, the Museum's gift shop, giving demonstrations of Mexican folk art techniques. They are also the featured artists for the Family Sunday program on October 16 (see Galleries listing for details).

The Mexican Museum is located on the ground floor of Landmark Building D. For details, see Galleries listing. For information, call 441-0404.

OPEN STUDIOS

ArtSpan's San Francisco Open Studios is one of the oldest and largest events of its kind. With ever-increasing attendance and participation by artists, Open Studios has expanded. The annual event, now in its nineteenth year, takes place in different neighborhoods throughout the city on four consecutive weekends, October 8 through 30.

New programs and events this year include guided tours to selected artists' studios, an "Art in the Neighborhoods" exhibition program, a performance series, and a store at Embarcadero Center. For information about ArtSpan's 1994 programs, call 861-9838.

Fort Mason Center is one of the Open Studios sites, with exhibits here on Saturday and Sunday, October 8 and 9.

ARE YOU LOOKING FOR MEETING SPACE?

Fort Mason Center has a wide variety of attractive and affordable facilities available for workshops, seminars, training and educational programs, retreats, performances, and special events.

Our facilities, including Conference Center, Firehouse, Herbst and Festival Pavilions, Cowell Theater and Meeting Rooms, are capable of handling groups from 5 to 5,000. You are welcome to make food service arrangements with a caterer of your choice.

There is ample free parking on site and along the beautiful Marina Green, with easy accessibility from all directions. MUNI comes right to our front door.

Located between the Golden Gate Bridge and Fisherman's Wharf on San Francisco's northern waterfront, Fort Mason is a unique blend of entertainment and education, open day and night, 365 days each year. A National Historic Landmark and part of the Golden Gate National Recreation Area, it's the setting for more than 15,000 events each year.

Please call (415) 441-3400 for information, Monday through Saturday, 9am to 5pm.

WHO USES THE CONFERENCE CENTER?

You can! It's available for rent 8am to 5pm or 5pm to midnight every day, and is an ideal exhibit space with natural lighting, fantastic views of the Golden Gate, and easy access.

The Conference Center has nearly 3,000 square feet of carpeted space, and works well as a gallery and reception location.

New clients can receive a 10% discount off regular rates, available on your first booking of the Conference Center or the Firehouse.

Just mention that you saw this special offer in the calendar when you reserve the space. Call Jerry Edelbrock at the Fort Mason Center offices, 441-3400, to inquire about availability.
